Art For All

At Paper Collective, we love art. We live to discover great art, make it affordable, available and share it with the world. Therefore since 2013 we have strived to bring the best contemporary art prints to people the world over. From our Copenhagen studio we proudly collaborate with a handpicked selection of our favorite artists to create #ARTFORALL.

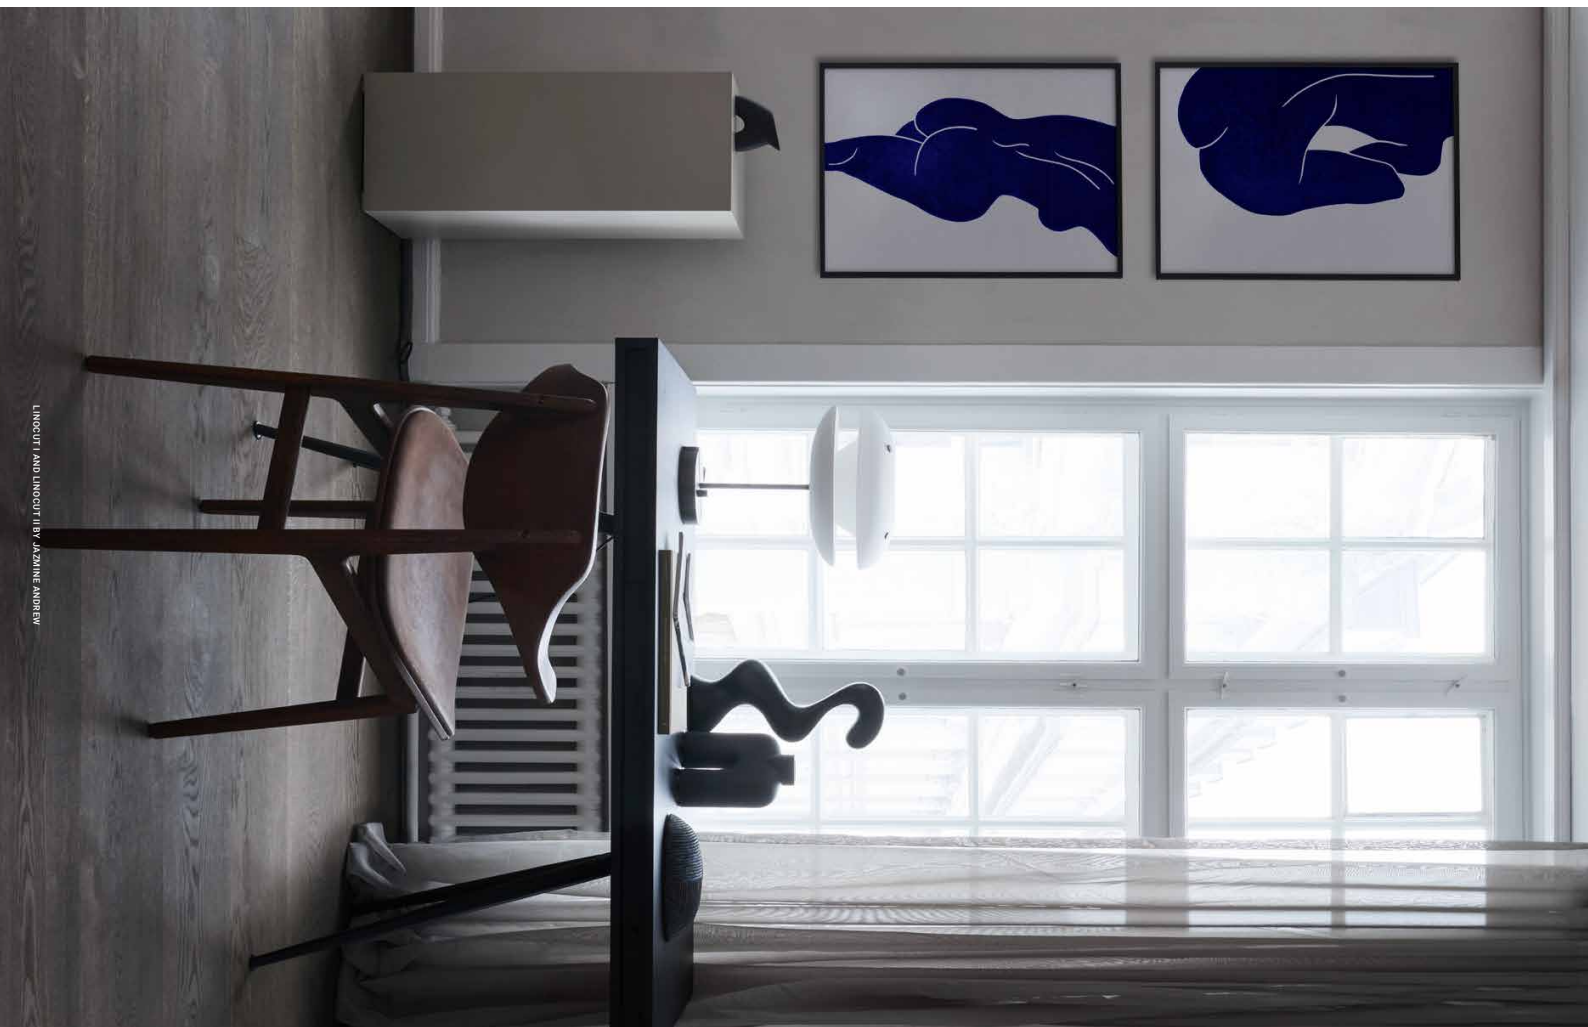

With varied backgrounds including fashion, architecture and illustration, the growing group of Paper Collective artists constantly renew and refresh our collection of original and iconic art prints.

I invite you to take part of our journey, and to create, share and enjoy the art with us.

The Journey of a Paper Collective Art Print

Here at Paper Collective, we understand that how we communicate our story has never been more important. With the passing of a year in which we have been physically distanced from our retailers and customers from all over the world, we wanted to delve a little deeper into the journey our collection of beautiful art prints take - from the studio of our collaborative artists onto your walls.

The starting point of the entire Paper Collective catalogue begins in the hands of the many creatives we are lucky enough to call our collaborators. We pride ourselves in the diversity of these artists and designers. From architects to fashion designers, illustrators to product designers, creative directors and more, they each bring a unique perspective to our growing collection. Under the keen eye of our Creative Director Morten Kaaber, Paper Collective provides our collaborative artists the room to experiment and grow, striving to bring a new perspective whilst contributing to our eclectic yet refined catalogue.

Once the artwork has been chosen, we hand pick the paper stock and format that best represents the artist and their vision. Produced entirely on the Danish mainland of Julianå, each Paper Collective print holds FSC and the Nordic Swan certificates - the highest environmental ratings for print media. The environmental considerations of our collection also extend to our FSC certified oak and pine timber frames, which are produced entirely in Europe.

The finished artwork then arrives in our Copenhagen studio, where we work alongside some of Denmark's best stylists and photographers to present our collections to the world. Through our social media channels, we are able to interact with a growing community of art and interior lovers across the globe - even during the extended indoor time of 2020.

Each print is then packed and rolled by hand in Copenhagen and sent to our retailers and customers throughout the world. Once a piece of artwork leaves our warehouse, we consider this just the beginning of our social and environmental responsibility. Since Paper Collective's foundation, we have donated a portion of each sale to worthy causes across the world through the Paper Collective Project. Over the years we have supported Forests of the World and WWF to name a few, with the largest contribution being our collaboration with the Human Practice Foundation to build a school in Tapléjung, Nepal.

We are so lucky to have a fantastic group of retailers across the globe that assist in bringing our vision into more homes. Without our retailers and customers, initiatives such as the Paper Collective Project would not be possible. It is with this in our mind that we say a big thank you for your support in a challenging 2020 and welcome you to follow our journey into a brighter 2021.
